Jet Airliner Down in Fog

PARIS (Reuters) — Twenty-one persons were reported killed today in the crash of a Hungarian airliner just before it was due to land at Le Bourget airport.

Air France, agent for the Hungarian government airline, said all 13 passengers and eight crew members aboard the four-engine Ilyushin-18 were killed.

The plane crashed in fog near a crossroads outside Gonesse, a suburb of Paris.

Most flights at the airport were cancelled earlier because of the fog. Only one plane landed and four took off before the crash.

An Ilyushin-18 belonging to Czechoslovak Airlines crashed near Nuernberg, West Germany March 28, 1961, killing all 32 persons aboard. On July 12 the same year another Czech-owned Ilyushin-18 struck a high-tension cable in fog near Casablanca and exploded, killing all 73 aboard.

Outside Communist countries, Ghana has been the chief buyer of the Russian-built planes, which were introduced in 1958.

Portuguese Army Plane Explodes After Take-Off

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — A Portuguese military transport plane exploded and crashed today minutes after taking off from Saint Thomas Island, killing 18 of the 22 persons aboard.

The official Lusitania news agency, listing the casualties, said five Lisbon showgirls returning from entertaining Portuguese troops in Angola were among the dead.

The transport, a four-engine C-54, was flying to Lisbon from the African territory, Saint Thomas, an island in the South Atlantic off Portuguese Guinea, is a regular refuelling stop on flights between Portugal's African possessions and Lisbon.

Lusitania quoted eye-witnesses saying there was a violent explosion in the plane soon after take-off and flames were visible from the airport.

Rescuers, guided by the blaze in the pre-dawn darkness, found the wreckage on land at Ponta da Moura, midway between the villages of Cascais and Praia, the news agency said.

Dispatches from Saint Thomas said the survivors were taken to a nearby hospital.

Argentine Cracks Plot By Anti-Peronist Group

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — The Argentine government says it has smashed a plot by an army faction of anti-Peronists to upset President Jose Maria Guido and prevent elections next June.

The government warned that supporters of former dictator Juan D. Peron also planned to prevent the elections.

Security forces arrested eight alleged plotters Thursday and said further arrests were likely.

Those arrested were said to fear a comeback by Peronists under Guido's plan to hold elections June 16 and restore constitutional government.

Retired army General Benjamin Mendez, 78, who led an unsuccessful plot against Peron in 1951, was named as the leader of the alleged anti-election plan.

He is reported to favor the ouster of Guido and installation of a military strongman.

Guido was installed last March after a military coup overthrew President Arturo Frondizi.

Chou Explains To Russell 'India Always Aggressor'

PEKING — Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai has told British philosopher Bertrand Russell that China "was always the attacked party" in its border clashes during the past year with India, the New China News Agency says.

Chou was quoted saying in reply to Lord Russell's letter Nov. 16 that China "... compelled by the massive attacks launched by the Indian government, could not but act in self-defence."

The agency earlier said Russell had sent three messages — Nov. 8, Nov. 16 and Nov. 19 — to Chou En-lai expressing concern over the Chinese-Indian border dispute and appealing for a cease-fire and negotiations.

In his Nov. 16 reply to Russell, Chou said "... at present the Indian side not only refuses to conduct peaceful negotiations but is preparing to launch attacks on an even larger scale."

He said the Chinese government "will not change its stand in striving for a peaceful settlement ... on a fair and reasonable basis and, so long as there is still a ray of hope, will continue its efforts towards this end."

Union Leader Demands Retraction By Bonner

VANCOUVER (CP) — A union leader today called on Attorney-General Robert Bonner to retract his statement that most of Vancouver's recent labor troubles were caused by "a handful of pork-chopping labor agitators."

"The evidence ... will prove that the members of the unions concerned spontaneously demanded a public protest against the attempted perversion of law enforcement by employers to deprive them of their rights," Jack Moore, western president of the International Woodworkers of America, said in a letter to the attorney-general.

Attorney-General Bonner said Thursday the Social Credit government is considering action to improve the labor-management climate in B.C.

The attorney-general, however, did not say what action will be taken.

During the last month there have been demonstrations outside strikebound plants employing non-union labor.

Some violence has resulted and some union members not connected with the striking unions have been charged in connection with violence in the demonstrations.

WARMING UP FOR KELOWNA CONCERT

For the first time in 12 years touring, the duo piano team of Horowitz and Stecher had to postpone a scheduled concert in Kelowna Thursday night because their pianos did not arrive. The team had played Tuesday night in Dawson Creek and because of road conditions, the truck carrying the two grand pianos has not yet arrived in Kelowna. "We fully expect them before mid-afternoon, said Norman Horowitz, seated here practising this morning as Melvin Stecher looks on, "and we will have the concert tonight in the Kelowna Community Theatre." The concert is under the auspices of the Kelowna Overture Concerts and begins at 8:15 p.m. The team plays in Nanaimo Saturday night. —(Courier photo)

'Instant Strip' System Secret Of 'Sons' Speed

CALGARY (CP) — An American anthropologist who has studied the Sons of Freedom Doukhobors says many women members of the radical sect are constantly prepared for "instant strip."

"There clothing is loose and they don't wear under garments," said Dr. Charles Frantz of Portland State College. "They can strip in five seconds. I've seen it happen."

Dr. Frantz, who lived among the sect in 1958 to research a study project, spoke to students at the University of Alberta here Thursday.

He said one reason Sons of Freedom strip is to embarrass anyone who is trying to deal with them.

"Often they want to shock and startle you. They feel this may get you to leave them alone. Or if you're trying to accomplish something or clear up trouble with them they may win a compromise."

A team of "expert negotiators" could be selected by the government to discuss problems with the Sons and try to reach solutions.

Trekkers Seem Settled — So New Concern Felt

HOPE (CP) — As some 1,300 trekkers seemed ready to settle here for winter new concerns were expressed by municipal authorities elsewhere Thursday night.

In Burnaby the Fraser Valley Municipal Association urged Attorney-General Bonner and Federal Justice Minister Fleming to take action.

He labelled the Sons trek from their burned-out Kootenay homes—a trek begun early in September to be near relatives in Mountain Prison at Agassiz—as a civil disobedience movement. He said it was not a municipal problem.

"These people recognize no law and order," said the Reverend whose council earlier passed an emergency bylaw barring the trekkers from entering Kent.

The courts have since declared the bylaw invalid, thus opening the way for the Freedomites to proceed if they wish to the vicinity of Mountain Prison, which holds 63 of their brethren convicted of acts of terrorism or conspiracy.

Sorokin Loses Libel Action

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mr. Justice F. K. Collins in Supreme Court today dismissed a libel action against the Trail Times by the absent leader of the Sons of Freedom Doukhobors.

Counsel for Stefan Sorokin Monday produced a letter from the Doukhobor leader who lives in Montevideo, Uruguay, written in Spanish and English.

Non-Teaching Staff Seek 12 Points In New Contract

Wage demands presented to the board of School District No. 23 by the Okanagan Valley School Employees Union, local 323, were described as "the most ridiculous we have ever heard," at the Thursday night meeting of the board.

"These demands presented in 12 points at our first meeting include increases ranging from 10 to 50 per cent," Jack W. Maddock, chairman of the board's salary committee, told the meeting.

"We asked them for an explanation of the large increase but they gave us none except the rise in the cost of living."

"We showed them that was 1.8 per cent and offered them an overall two per cent increase, and they are now discussing it," he said.

Harry J. King, a member of the union negotiating committee told the Daily Courier today the union are asking a 10 per cent increase on the basic wage and then attempted to equalize the pay of tradesmen with other school districts in the Okanagan Valley.

"As an example Vernon school district pays its plumbers $368 a month. Our present plumber rate is approximately $346 and our new request is for $361 per month. We didn't ask for complete equalization, as you can see, but we would like to be closer to the other tradesmen's level," he said.

Mr. Maddock told the school board the union, made up of Mr. Maddock.

custodial staffs and bus drivers had asked for a basic $30 increase for everyone then they had reclassified people in many positions to give the remaining increase.

Plumbers are increased 22 per cent, bus drivers are increased 50 per cent and the teachers do not include any fringe benefits.

PENSION PLAN

The union now has a 50-50 pension plan and a similar medical health plan, whereby the board pays the same premium the employee pays.

New fringe benefits now asked for, include a 50-50 group life insurance scheme and four weeks paid holidays after 15 years service.

In the reclassification the word "handyman" was dropped and people are now called plumbers, electricians and bus drivers.

"The word 'handyman' was introduced in the last contract with the union's consent. These are people who are plumbers, but when they are not plumbers, we would like to be able to have them do other work that must be done. We don't feel we can hire men, if we cannot keep them occupied full time," said Mr. Maddock.

"Every Effort" Has Been Made To Better Position Since '56

"Six years ago these people were poorly paid, by the Valley standards, but the board has made every effort to improve their position," said Fred Macklin, board secretary. "They are now receiving comparable salaries to anyone in the Valley."

"Our lowest custodian receives $299 a month. The average provincial government employee in similar work receives $254 and the non-government employee in B.C. receives $293. The board suggested two per cent increase would put our employees still higher," he said.

Mr. Macklin said working conditions for many of the union people had vastly improved over the past few years with the installation of gas furnaces in schools. "They have no clinkers to haul out now," he said.

Two years ago, when the last contract was signed, they went to conciliation and as a result received a three per cent increase the first year and a two per cent increase the second year.

Tories Take A Beating In 5 UK By-Elections

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Macmillan's Conservative party suffered a setback in five by-elections Thursday, losing two to the Labor party and taking the rest with reduced margins of victory.

In what politicians described as a major upset, the Labor opposition party swept the Conservatives from power in Glasgow Woodside constituency and South Dorset in southern England.

In the Conservative stronghold of Chippenham, the ruling party held on to its seat, but by a sharply-reduced plurality. Conservatives retained Central Norfolk and South Northamptonshire constituencies by margins of only 220 and 917 votes respectively.

The pro-government Daily Mail called the results a "disaster" and the Daily Express a "devastating setback."

The Conservatives had expected defeat in the Glasgow suburb of Woodside but they were unprepared for Labor candidate Neil Carmichael's 1,368-vote margin over Conservative Norman Glenn.

However, it was South Dorset, a traditional Conservative stronghold, that provided the biggest shock.

Mac May Meet JFK

Prime Minister Macmillan was reported in London today considering a meeting with President Kennedy to discuss major international issues.

Government sources said the British leader is expected to cross the Atlantic shortly after Christmas. But they gave no firm indication whether the two chiefs of government are likely to meet in Washington or in the British colony of Bermuda.

Criminologist Justin Gale said in Montreal today a recent outbreak of prison riots in Canada is a "costly and dramatic" symptom of an inadequate prison philosophy.

Pearson Claims A 'Backdown'

OTTAWA (CP) — Liberal Leader Pearson accused the government today of trying to back down on its agreement to assume the financial risk in credit sales of wheat to China.

Resuming an attack he began last week on a speech by Agriculture Minister Hamilton in Regina Nov. 9, Mr. Pearson said it was a "ridiculous procedure to ask the Prairie grain growers to share in the risk on credit sales."

He also asked the minister to confirm or deny reports that Canadian wheat board officials at present are in Hong Kong negotiating for further sales to Communist China.

Bill Would Change BC Water Transport

OTTAWA (CP) — Water transport of goods and passengers in British Columbia would be brought under the jurisdiction of the Federal Board of Transport Commissioners under a bill introduced in the Commons today by Tony Barnett (ND—Comox-Alberni). His bill would amend the Transport Act and the Railway Act.

Labor Mobility Scheme To Meet Automation Era

OTTAWA (CP) — Bringing out what it called pioneer legislation, the Progressive Conservative government today Thursday night proposed to set up a "labor mobility" scheme to relocate workers who lose their jobs due to industrial changes such as automation.

A bill introduced in the Commons calls for Ottawa to pay half the cost that any province or industry runs into in moving such workers—plus their families—to any other part of Canada where a job is available.

In addition, the federal government would stand ready to contribute up to half the cost of research and investigation in any one industry—or group of industries—leading to what the bill calls a "manpower adjustment" plan, involving retraining or moves.

Labor Minister Starr, speaking before the Commons approved the sketchy resolution that preceded the bill, said the legislation is "designed to deal in a positive way with some of the human problems caused by automation."

GIVES NO DETAILS

Mr. Starr made no estimates of the cost of the plan or the possible number of workers involved, or the extent to which it may reduce unemployment. Nor did he mention any specific regions or industries considered ripe for this kind of help.

Sense Of Drama Prevails As Cuba Crisis Fades

WASHINGTON (AP)—There is a sense of great drama in Washington as the last scenes of the Cuban conflict are played out. There is feeling that something big is about to happen.

The question is: What? Neither President Kennedy, who calls this a climatic period and a turning point in history, nor State Secretary Rusk, who says we are all on the edge of unpredictable events of high importance, has answered this question.

But both men are undoubtedly convinced that in Moscow, Peking, New Delhi, and Western capitals old policies are being reviewed and historic new decisions are in the making.

The development of three crises at almost the same time last month are responsible for this belief. They are the crises between the United States and Russia over Cuba, between Russia and Red China over India, and between Red China and India over their undeclared border war. All three have led to loose forces which, in their final impact, must have a profound influence on the future course of international relations.

HOLDS GREATEST THREAT

The showdown between Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev over the installation of Soviet weapons in Cuba probably holds the greatest threat and the greatest hope for the future. In general terms, two courses are open to Washington and Moscow. Either they can move toward some adjustment of their differences, such as those over Berlin, and toward arms control agreements, or they can get ready for the next disaster-threatening Cuban type confrontation.

From the U.S. point of view, the chief long-range gain of the Caribbean crisis was to show Khrushchev that Kennedy would face the full risk of nuclear war in defence of vital U.S. interests and commitments. The important question now is whether Khrushchev chooses to avoid dangerous challenges in the future or to arm more powerfully for even greater risks hereafter.

Dief Said 'Favorable' To Probe On Divorce

OTTAWA (CP)—A reported "favorable" attitude of Prime Minister Diefenbaker toward a royal commission on divorce may spur current negotiations between the four political parties aimed at having such a commission established, such information said today.

The suggestion for a commission was made Wednesday in a brief by the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Club, President Elaine Gregory MacGill of Toronto, said after the meeting that Mr. Diefenbaker's reaction caused her to think establishment of a royal commission is likely.

This development came in the midst of behind-the-scenes political talks with the same end in view. The latest move was initiated by Arnold Peters NDP—Timiskaming, with a direct appeal to Mr. Diefenbaker for establishment of a commission.

As a result, there have been three developments:

1. Liberal Leader Pearson is reported to have expressed interest and requested an examination of a constitutional point involving federal powers over maintenance allowances for divorce spouses and custody of children.

2. Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson has said the 50 MPs of his party have established a committee to examine their position with respect to divorce and a royal commission.

3. New Democratic Leader J. C. Douglas is said to be favorable to such a commission.

4. Andrew Brown (NDP, Toronto, Greenbelt), a Toronto lawyer who has specialized in civil rights and constitutional questions, has prepared a memorandum on the maintenance allowance and custody questions which is being circulated to all parties.

5. Mr. Peters who, with Frank Howard (NDP, St. Catharines) has spearheaded a drive in Parliament for changes in divorce procedure, has had draft letters of reference for a royal commission drawn up and circulated.

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor lawyer Maurice Wright Thursday accused the Seafarers' International Union of Canada of rigging its elections in 1956 and 1958.

Mr. Wright, appearing before the Canadian Labor Congress, said the SIU's own election reports showed evidence of dishonest elections.

His charge, made at the 52nd session of the federal investigation of labor strikes on the Great Lakes, was denied by SIU executive Vice-President Leonard J. McLaughlin.

But Mr. McLaughlin was unable to give a clear-cut explanation of six discrepancies in the vote tabulation for the 1956 election—discrepancies that showed more votes counted than actually ruled valid.

The SIU official, senior officer of the union at the time of the 1956 election, rejected a number of explanations for the discrepancies — that they were simple errors, that partially void ballots were counted, that they were miscounts.

Mr. Wright asked Mr. McLaughlin to explain how the 1958 vote at Quebec City showed more ballots cast for posts in Vancouver than for positions in nearby Montreal.

The SIU official said the result showed there were more west coasters at Quebec City at the time than lake sailors.

Seafarers "Rigged Vote" During '56, '58 Elections

OTTAWA (CP)—The British government has handed Malcolm MacDonald a tough colonial assignment—to remove the fuse from explosive Kenya.

MacDonald will take over in January as governor of that harsh and beautiful east African country. He will go with a free hand to guide Kenya to nationhood along the path of orderly self-government.

MacDonald, a self-confident and talkative man of 61, has his work cut out for him. Kenya is 224,960 square miles of mountains, jungles, arid plains, lush farms and fast-growing cities. It includes within its borders most of the problems of Africa—tribal and racial tensions, land hunger, excessive nationalism and some left-wing political penetration.

Many of its 6,500,000 people are eager for freedom. Some of the Africans covet the farms of the white settlers in the highlands. Europeans, Asians and Arabs make up minority groups with little in common with each other.

Most Canadians Back U.S. On Cuba Says Peace Group

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Peace Research Institute said today three out of four Canadians approve United States policy toward Cuba and one in four believes general disarmament can be achieved.

The figures were obtained from a questionnaire taken by a commercial testing company. Institute officials said at a press conference.

Canadian reaction in the two weeks following the Cuban crisis was 79.3 per cent in favor of U.S. policy and 17.1 against. The other eight per cent had no opinion.

Ex-Gen. Walker Battles Blaze

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Former Major-General Edwin A. Walker of Dallas directed two fire-fighting units Thursday and was credited with a major role in keeping a farm home from being destroyed by fire.

Lt. H. Dugger said Walker, driving alone along U.S. 11, 14 miles south of Gainesville, noted the woodshed in the rear of the Dugger farm home ablaze. The ex-general and occupants of the house fought the blaze, which spread to the two-story residence, until fire units from Gainesville and Hanger arrived. Dugger said Walker then took charge of the fire-fighting and assisted in carrying out furniture and personal belongings from the home.

The two-story house was heavily damaged.

Persons at the scene said Walker told them he was returning home from Mississippi. A judge in Oxford, Miss., ruled Wednesday that the former general is mentally competent to stand trial on charges of sedition, conspiracy and inciting an insurrection on the campus at the University of Mississippi during the enrollment of James Meredith, first Negro to attend the school.

On the evening of November 20, 21 and 22, a series of lectures were given at the Kelowna Senior High School by K. R. H. Roberts, Provincial Civil Defence Instructor from Victoria.

These lectures and films covered a wide range of subjects, dealing with Civil Defence matters. They were well received.

To describe only a part of the program, they covered the immediate effects of nuclear explosions, blast, heat and radiation effects, the Civil Defence organizations as it exists throughout the various levels of government—Federal, Provincial and Municipal, our system of warning signals across Canada and the various Civil Defence services, such as fire police, health, welfare, rescue, etc., the radio-active effects of nuclear explosions, such as radiation, injury to the body, formation of radio-activity, radiation illness, etc. Many instruments devised for detecting and measuring radio-activity in persons and articles, such as food.

The lectures continued to advise and instruct as to how to protect against blast heat, exposure and the use of shelters.

Finally, it was stressed that in the event of a nuclear blast, do not descend from blast heat, and a moving demonstration on decontamination procedures.

Who would we in Kelowna be interested or concerned about a nuclear explosion?

It may never happen and it may happen, it would be most unlikely that it would occur in this area in this region. What, then, would be Kelowna's role, health, welfare, rescue, etc., in the event of such a disaster happening in an area such as Vancouver and or Victoria?

The answers, in part, to these questions are that it might be a nuclear explosion, or, say, Vancouver or it might be a natural disaster, or a devastating earthquake. This could come in the form of a flood of gigantic proportion, or an earthquake and fire comparable to that which happened in San Francisco many years ago. What, then, again, would the citizens of Kelowna be asked to do, and who is asking them to do this?

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday from the Chapel of Remembrance following the death in hospital of Gustav Anderson, 80, of Poplar Point Dr.

Capt. B. S. Dumerton will officiate with interment in the Garden of Devotion in Lakeview Memorial Park. Members of the family will act as pallbearers.

Landscaping's Two-Fold Purpose On Highways

"It's monotonous", "It's boring", "It lulls me to sleep". These and other similar comments are frequently made by motorists after riding on the multiple lane, divided, limited access highways, freeways, parkways, turnpikes or toll roads—call them what you will.

No one denies that they are an excellent means of getting from place to place in a hurry and that the driving is easy. But the fact does remain that these very factors make the driving uninteresting.

Recently a Courier representative travelled some 1,500 miles of such roads in New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and left them in sheer desperation. He found at the end of the day, despite the easy driving, he was more tired than travelling a similar distance on an ordinary highway. He wondered why.

The answer he came up with was a simple one. He was bored. There was nothing of interest along the road; no towns to discuss, because they were bypassed; no shrubbery; no trees to break the monotony of the long ribbon of pavement ahead.

Constantly he remembered travelling up Highway 99 through Oregon and Washington, a couple of Mays ago when the broom was in full flower. The median and the banks of the cuts had been planted systematically with a dozen colors and even more shades of broom. There was no boredom on that trip! Every curve was a picture; every cut was a delight.

It is no secret that these super highways have more than their share of accidents. Nor is it any secret that the basic cause is "turnpike trance", which simply means the driver becomes bored and, being bored, becomes careless or falls asleep. In an effort to counteract this tendency, highway engineers are deliberately putting curves into the highways at certain specified distances.

They could go one step further, and it should not be a costly step when considered in relation to the highway costs. They could landscape the median and the sides of the highway. Roadside landscaping, of course, is not neglected on all such roads, but it would seem that landscaping is the exceptional policy rather than the rule.

It is interesting to note that in California a recent statement of highway policy on "scenic values" contained such words as "beauty", "natural beauty", "in harmony with the setting", "results from an aesthetic viewpoint", "lines of construction softened and beautified", "planting in harmony", and similar words and phrases. The highway engineers in California should be praised for such an approach.

It is not a coincidence that the beautifully landscaped, 173-mile Garden State Parkway in New Jersey is also the safest superhighway. For two years in a row, the automobile death rate has been the lowest in the United States. It is 0.66 for every 100,000 miles of travel. This is the lowest rate in the country, as well as the lowest in the parkway's six-year history. The highway has been landscaped for both beauty and safety. This record suggests that landscaping not only beautifies the superhighways, but also makes them safer to travel on throughout the year.

POOL NEEDED

Sir: With reference to a recent item in a B.C. newspaper quote—"Kelowna just didn't have it"

"The Regatta City is well-known from the Atlantic to the Pacific and even beyond the seas."

Actually all we have is a small hole at the side of the lake and it too is getting pretty shallow.

Our young people are supposed to compete with the best and win. If we get two and a half months swimming we consider that we are fortunate, but what about the remainder of the year?

While it is true our fruit brings the dollar to our door, again on the other hand we would have little to offer the travelling public without our fine beaches.

Why do we allow the water sports to hang in jeopardy?

Too, we shake our heads in despair and live in hopes that an elfin will drop a pool complete in our midst.

Isn't it time we got our feet out of the mud?

Kelowna is not only robbing itself of a valuable asset but defeating the purpose of our young people as well.

RECTOR REPLIES

Dear Sir: Ald. Winter is quoted in your issue of November 20 as saying: "The way things stand right now a church could buy a whole block, put up a church on it and it would be exempt from taxes."

This statement may well create a wrong impression in the minds of those who regard the church as an institution which contributes nothing financially to the community. I would point out that very many years ago, actually in 1911, the Anglican Church purchased a property and built a church. The part on which the church was built was and is exempt from taxation but the other part has always been subject to tax, even before the present rectory was built on it; and it is still taxed, as it should be.

However, if Ald. Winter is correct and this additional land has been taxed unjustly and if the Anglican Church has been discriminated against, we should be most happy to have a refund of taxes paid on the lot for the (approximately) 40 years when it was vacant!

Yours very truly,
D. S. CATCHPOLE,
Rector, St. Michael and All Angels' Church

MRS. M. MEDELICK,

NAME CALLING NO HELP

Sir: I have studied lately letters by Alex Beasley and also your footnotes appended.

At the outset, let me say I wrote Mr. Beasley and complimented him on his stand for peace. He hates war, I think the bulk of the world's common people don't want war either. It would almost appear, Mr. Editor, that in fact you imply so much that Mr. Beasley has his head stuck in the sand ostrich-like. If this is so then it appears to me that you are stuck up to neck in the sands with the head barely showing.

Now this is close to name calling. This won't help. Let me put it as plainly as possible. Mr. Beasley is a pacifist and everyone of us who doesn't want war is behind Mr. Beasley unless we are hypocrites. It is not a question of political affiliations, it is a question of survival against nuclear war. It is not a question of backing a millionaire president of the U.S. as against Castro of Cuba or the Soviet Union, or the Socialist world versus the capitalist world.

Everyone of us must ask the question of ourselves—do we want to live or don't we? It may not matter to me personally. I'm 83 years old, but I have three generations following me. I do care about them, don't you? I have my own ideas about Castro and Cuba. It is a sovereign state and its affairs should and will be settled by the people of Cuba. This is true of every country in the world. The people will be the sole arbiters of their destiny.

On conditions we, the people, stop the war madmen from starting war. It won't be a case of God help us. The time is now. It only takes a little courage to come out and make a stand for or against, and if we believe in democracy, we have that right. I am exercising that through the press. I was brought up as a naval gunner in the British Navy. Nevertheless I am against war. War never solved anything and never will. So I have no hesitation in saying that I stand behind Mr. Beasley 100 per cent.

RAISE VOICES

Sir: I was indeed pleased to see the Citizens' Committee come to life again and to see them trying to get some justice for the burdened taxpayer. Mr. Angus is to be commended for his stand and I am hoping many more may start to raise their voices in disgust at the way our taxpayers' money is squandered.

The Mayor and Councillors seem to think they can spend taxpayers' money without asking the taxpayers if they are in favor of the proposed project. We have lately experienced this wilful spending in the case of the new theatre that many of our residents don't want, but had to abide by the mayor's wishes. It's a time this wilful spending came to a stop and the citizens asked what they think about it for a change.

I would very much like to see Mr. Angus and some of his kind fight for a seat on the 1963 council. Maybe then we would get justice.

OTTAWA REPORT

It Was Short But Punchy

By PATRICK NICHOLSON
The House of Commons in session filed around the mid-point of the evening session. One MP is on his feet, probably reading from a sheet of paper the "speech" which he had spent the past two days concocting—and he will spend the next two minutes reading it to his supporters back home.

A baker's dozen of MPs are doing, while twice as many appear to be listening. Several read the pages of the Ottawa evening papers, a like number write letters at their desks. Three or four pairs converse in quiet tones, and as many stand behind the curtains at the back of the chamber, dragging on cigarettes.

It was only such a scene at 9:15 one recent evening that Dr. P. B. Ryndard erupted—and gave the quorum a quick shot of Orlina.

The House was debating the motion of Health Minister J. W. Muirhead to amend the Food and Drug Act. Specifically, to set up a "national council of welfare" to advise the minister in the field of social welfare. This, said Mr. Muirhead, is "a major step forward in the development of welfare in Canada," a step too for which former health minister Paul Martin expressed his support.

VIVID VITAL WORDS

The Commons had heard some lugubrious reading, and a falling monotone, and then a largely uncomprehended yet admirable speech in French. But when the tall grey-haired doctor representing Simcoe East began to speak, the freshness of the sincerity of this shot from Orlina did just the opposite to sedate the assembly, although it was fatigued by the hour and sleepy with food. "In fair round belly with good capon lined," as Shakespeare described it. The evening papers were laid down, the hum of gossip ceased. There is an indefinable allure in the spontaneous word, and Dr. Ryndard was delivering and oration, not reading an essay. Novel ideas tumbled over themselves as he spoke, and one had to be quick to grasp each before he was off like a bound puppy after another scent.

In five minutes, Dr. Ryndard said more than most had read in thirty. He astonished his audience with his comments; he astonished them more by abruptly sitting down. But he thereby proved an interesting point: a speaker can make a telling contribution to a debate without filling the thirty minutes permitted by the rules. In fact, Dr. Ryndard's brevity disappointed his audience, who would have enjoyed more of his ideas. And it sent them scuttling to read the printed report next day, to examine those ideas which he had tossed out.

INEQUALITY RAMPAANT

His theme, in effect, is that social justice in Canada today is largely unjust—because equal benefits can be unjust.

As examples, he compared a city-dweller and a countryman, and pointed out the immense contrast between the way of life open to each on the same old age pension.

Then he turned to compensation payments. How unfair it is, he suggested, to offer the same compensation for the loss of a leg to a laborer, who depends upon it, as to an office worker, who doesn't. Then he spoke of incapacitated old folk. Commonsense steps should be taken to enable all to remain in their homes, to stay with their blinding roots. "Such folk suffer a kind of double depreciation when they are forced to move," Dr. Ryndard explained to the later. "It accelerates their downward mental and emotional, to tear them away from their habits. This has been clearly shown by the American Geriatrics Society."

The cost of part-time care for such old folks in their homes might be deductible as an expense. In assessing the tax on the earnings of offspring or relatives who live with them to care for them, he suggested.

The salvaging of young people from feeble families drifting on welfare is another "must," this valuable speech told Parliament. And there might be a "caveat living bonus" to equalize the effect of welfare payments.

Such gross inequalities and intense human problems must be faced by the proposed National Council of Welfare, urged Dr. Ryndard in what was the most impressive and meaningful 5-minute contribution to a debate yet heard in our 25th Parliament.

Small College Advantage

At a time when the press of students seeking higher education is forcing colleges and universities to expand—many to become institutional giants—the remarks of John W. Nason recently inaugurated as president of Carleton College, Northfield, Minnesota, are drawing more than passing interest from educators.

"I believe," says Dr. Nason, "in the small college, the residential college, and coeducation."

"There are many kinds of educational institutions, large as well as small, municipal as well as rural, technical as well as general, universities as distinct from colleges. They all have their place, and I am not trying to make invidious judgements of ultimate worth."

"One type is better than another only for the particular purpose it seeks to achieve, and it is my conviction that the small college where students and faculty can know one another, where both young men and young women can grow up together, and where their social life as well as academic interests are influenced by a common residential setting, is especially well designed to produce members of society distinguished for both their intellect and their character."

This opinion reflects in many particulars the arguments advanced for the establishment of an Okanagan college. The virtues implicit in an institution small enough to have reasonably close contact between professors and students have long been recognized by the advocates of small colleges.

As the Okanagan college grows, as it attains full university status and attracts young people from other parts of the province, it will undoubtedly be the effort of the faculty to retain as many as possible of the virtues inherent in the small college. The Nason creed will not be ignored.

In Passing

The only minority whose rights are adequately protected comprises the one in heaven.

Something seems amiss. Quite a few months have passed in which nobody has introduced an outlandish dance.

Doubtless the organization that lacks most of living up to its name is the United Nations.

Whatever New York's motives may have been in raising the price of a marriage licence to $4, the action will likely have little, if any deterrent effect.

It is easier to understand people by bearing in mind that some 98.5 per cent of them consider themselves exceptions to virtually all rules.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Time For Hormones?

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Twelve years ago (when I was 43) I had a hysterectomy. I am a very nervous person.

I am now getting hormone shots regularly, but they don't seem to do much good. What is your opinion? — D.S.

The usefulness of hormone medication, or the need for it varies widely from one woman to another. Most don't require any. Others may find it very useful for a limited period, from six to 12 months.

The need for hormones is greatest in a woman who has had "surgical menopause," that is, a hysterectomy including removal of the ovaries.

In ordinary menopause, the ovaries gradually decrease the secretion of hormones. The body gradually adjusts to a different hormonal balance.

But when the ovaries are removed, the cessation of hormone production is abrupt. The adjustment cannot be made gradually by the system. That is why hormones are so useful in carrying the patient through the readjusting time. But the body does readjust, just as it does after normal menopause.

Now some women continue the use of hormones for much longer periods on the supposition that their troubles are a continuation of menopause. But keep this in mind: Menopause and its symptoms do not continue indefinitely. It is a period of transition.

Thus when the symptoms keep on and on, the actual cause may be entirely apart from menopause. Sometimes it is neurosis, sometimes thyroid trouble (the thyroid secretes hormones, too but of a different type), sometimes hypoglycemia, or low blood sugar, possibly high blood pressure. The list is long.

Hence when hormones shots "don't seem to do much good" any longer, it is quite probable that they have outlived their usefulness. There should be careful study to see whether some other disturbance isn't what really needs correction.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have varicose veins. Should I keep heavy stockings or bandage down when I go to bed? — Mrs. L.R.

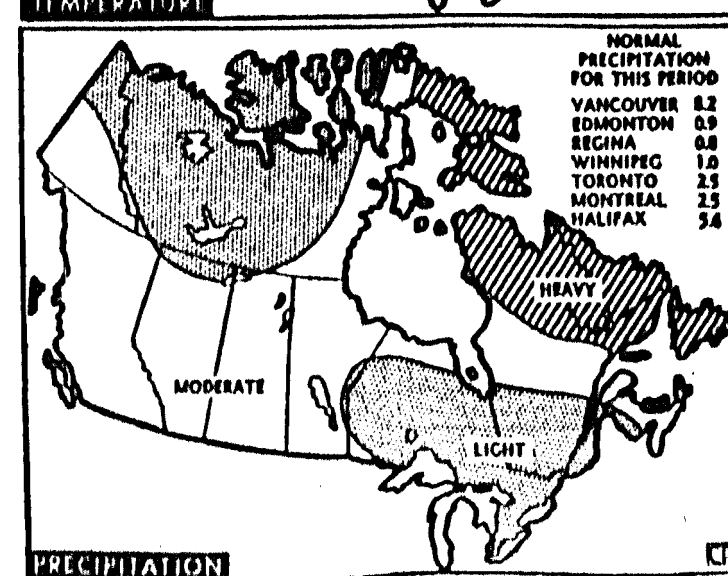

This is usually not necessary, unless there is associated phlebitis.

Dear Dr. Molner: My sister had a lot of tests in an exploratory operation which showed she had cirrhosis of the liver. Can you explain about this? I heard it happened only to alcoholics. — M.M.

While alcohol is usually the cause of cirrhosis it is not the only one. It can occur in people who do not drink heavily or even not at all.

It is a gradual hardening of the liver, sometimes progressive, destroying the functioning ability of groups of cells in the liver.

Other than alcohol, causes include both infectious and serum hepatitis: "toxic hepatitis" or poisoning from fumes such as carbon tetrachloride. There are also unknown causes.

Lumby Traders Hit Out At Unfair Housing Loans

Unfair housing loans by investment companies have been rapped by the Okanagan Mainline Association Chambers of Commerce, meeting in Salmon Arm, Wednesday.

A letter by the Lumby chamber to the Minister of Public Works, Ottawa, seeking legislation disallowing such practices, was endorsed by the association with only Kelowna abstaining.

The letter stated: "It is almost impossible to borrow money for the purchase of a home in our village and district. The building of a new house is quite possible through Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at a reasonable rate of interest.

"It happens quite often that some local resident wishes to purchase a modest home of his own. When attempting to raise money for this purpose we find that most reputable mortgage companies refuse to do business in a small district such as Lumby. We feel this is very unfair as we have an above average per capita income and a relatively stable all year around economy.

"However, we do frequently have money made available by investment companies who charge exorbitant rates.

The letter then gave this example: "A man wants to buy home for $8,000.00. Investment company offers a discount mortgage on home for $6,000. Interest on above at 7 per cent per annum. Net cash made available $4,500 to be repaid over a period of 11 years at $65.00 per month. Total payment $8,580. Actual interest cost to customer is over 16 per cent.

"We feel this is taking unfair advantage of the average wage-earner. These are the people who are mostly affected by this type of mortgage. When they wish to acquire a home of their own they are vulnerable to this type of dealing.

"We would wish the government to pass legislation disallowing such unfair practice.

"We further ask the government to expand the scope of the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation (or maybe the Veterans' Land Act) so as to make it possible for the average industrious working man to purchase a home of his own on a long term repayment plan at a reasonable rate of interest.

"Surely such legislation could do much to improve the economic stability of a community such as ours and give many an employee the pride of ownership necessary to make him a contented and patriotic citizen.

"In summing up our presentation we wish to emphasize that the requested changes in present housing legislation would have the following results," the letter said.

Growers Miffed At Apple Mark-Up

A 100 per cent mark-up on apples in Vancouver stores is inciting the ire of Okanagan fruit growers.

One grower said in Vernon he had been asked $7.40 for a box of extra fancy McIntosh apples in a Vancouver super-market while the price here would have been $3.65. "It's highway robbery," said Coldstream grower John Kosty.

Apple Juice With The Milk

Fraser Valley residents may soon be able to get apple juice delivery by the milkman in the morning with the milk.

An official of a large Okanagan apple-juice producing firm said Thursday arrangements are being made with a Fraser Valley dairy to package apple juice in cartons for home delivery.

VERNON ASSIZE HEARING

Accused Claims Police 'Not Fair' During Lineup

VERNON (Staff) — Robert Nicol, one of two men charged with breaking entering and theft on trial at the Vernon Fall Assizes, Thursday charged police with supplying him with clothes, allegedly stolen by him, to appear in a lineup for identification.

Nicol, who is conducting his own defence with the second accused Norman Beckman, asked RCMP Const. W. Knopp of Penticton if he was present in the Penticton cell block when his clothes were taken away.

"I was there when some clothes were taken from you," replied Const. Knopp.

"Do you remember how I was dressed for the lineup?" asked Nicol.

"Yes—tan trousers and white tee shirt."

"Is it true the white tee shirt was one alleged to be stolen by us?" (Beckman, Nicol and Robert Clark, who pleaded guilty to the same charge and had been remanded in custody for sentence.)

"Yes," replied the constable.

"Why were we not allowed in the lineup with our own clothes?"

"They were being held for exhibit."

"Who gave you instructions to use these special shirts?" continued Nicol.

"If you remember correctly," Const. Knopp said to Nicol, "you asked for other clothes and we gave you the tee shirt which was not being held for identification."

"But anyone could have worn the clothing which we're charged with stealing. There was no reason why we should have been put in a lineup in such clothes," Nicol said.

At the second day of the lengthy trial Nicol also challenged Const. Knopp's testimony that he did not completely investigate or search the car which the two accused were said by the Crown to have had illegal possession of.

He requested and received permission from the court to read from the transcript of the preliminary trial in Penticton, where another RCMP constable said the car was searched inside and the trunk.

Judge Munro Quells Minor Uproar As Charge Of 'Liar' Shouted Out

A minor uproar was quelled in the car to see who was talking through a partially-opened car door.

Another storm blew through the courtroom as Nicol charged witness Const. L. W. Hanson with conducting an unfair lineup for identification.

TOTAL OF NINE

A total of nine men were in the lineup for identification by Mrs. Manus and another resident of Central Cabins, Const. Hanson said, and the men were picked to closely resemble Nicol, Beckman and Clark.

Nicol asked: "How many men were in the lineup over six feet tall?"

"Three out of the nine, including yourself," replied Const. Hanson. (Nicol is six feet five inches tall and has dark wavy hair.)

On further cross-examination Const. Hanson said one man was six feet exactly, and one was "more than six feet," in addition to Nicol.

"How old was the man who was more than six feet tall," asked Nicol.

"He was 42."

"I'm 29... do you call that a fair lineup? He also had grey hair... I have not."

Const. Hanson told the court and Nicol that the lineup man bore a striking resemblance to accused Nicol. Witness Mrs. Manus picked the three men (Roth and Frolick) were too young on the ground that he was not present, and was in fact lodged in jail at the time.

Mr. Justice Munro said he could not rule on Roth's testimony because "I hardly know what's coming," but indicated he would rule when he heard it.

Roth said he and his brother-in-law Daniel Frolick, and a third man "I can't remember his name," were parked in a car when Beckman came up to the vehicle and said, "If I had a car and a tank of gas, I'd get out of town... it's me they're looking for not you," indicating Frolick. Roth said Beckman told him he wanted a wrecker to tow his car away "which had just been painted."

LOOKED INTO

Const. Knopp replied: "Yes, the car was looked into, both front, back and the trunk, but a thorough search, normal for RCMP lab technicians, was not made at this time."

"Was there any evidence a safe had been anywhere in that car?" asked Nicol.

"I am not in a position to know for certain," replied the constable.

Points of law were ruled upon by Mr. Justice Craig Munro and again a trial within a trial without jury took place.

A total of 12 civilian witnesses and eight RCMP officers were

This year's Grey Cup game will probably go down in the annals of the game as the most controversial, whether or not it turns out to be the best game actually played in the long history of the old mug. The why and wherefore regarding television coverage of this year's version even reached the floor of the House of Commons the other day... surely this is carrying things a little far!

Annual classic though it may be and oft described as the one day in the year when this land becomes fully united and that sort of thing, we are inclined to think that after all the arguing and fighting is over, the game itself will probably be anti-climactical.

Almost submerged under a deluge of charges and counter charges by both major television corporations and their governing body, the Board of Broadcast Governors, is the fact that this game WILL be played... TV or not TV! But it will lose some of its glamor and prestige because of all that has gone before it this year.

Assuredly other controversies have surrounded the classic in former years but nothing on such an absurd scale as this... most of the others had a tinge of glamor and adventure about them but this commercial ballyhoo can do little else but to detract from the game itself.

Latest on the commercial front is that two out of the three sponsors of the spectacle have agreed with the publicly owned CBC's policy of carrying the game without their bothersome commercial hodge-podge, but with what are termed "cortesy announcements" instead... the thought immediately springs to mind on hearing this great concession, what's the difference between a good old commercial and this so called cortesy announcements... Ah! we surmise there will be very little.

This sponsorship has certainly been carried too far when you consider while viewing a Sunday National Football League game... The commentator warbles "Jurgensen fades back to pass—he looks—he throws (gasp)—it's a long looong one to Tommy McDonald in the end zone for the..." No Not Touch-down but HEY MABEL! Then we miss the convert (or point after touchdown as they call it) while some Kook tries to tell you his beer or deodorant is better than anyone else's... gets to be a little much doesn't it?

Plity those poor people who'll have to watch it on that private network friend, while we sit and enjoy our cortesy announcements without missing a single play... Well hardly ever anyway!

As far as the game itself is concerned both east and west will decide their candidates for Earl Grey's cuspidor this weekend... and as we predicted earlier this year, it looks like another clash between Bud Grant's shock troops and Jim Trimble's panzers but this we won't know till Saturday... Maybe Bobby Dobbs and Perry Moss have other ideas who knows... the best laid prophecies of mice and football fans as the bard puts it!

Bathgate Line Sparks Rangers As National League Race Tightens Up

Sparked by their big, smooth-skating first line of Earl Ingfield, Andy Bathgate and Andy Beboton, New York Rangers have quietly turned the NHL standings into a five-team fight.

Rangers pounded the hapless Boston Bruins 7-1 Thursday night before an incensed Boston crowd. The baring Rangers have won four of their last five games to pull out of a race for the league cellar with Bruins.

Boston centre Don McKenney scored Bruins' goal with less than two minutes left to play, scolding Ranger goalie Gump Worsley's shutout bid.

McKenney's goal also kept the league from the rare feat of three shutouts in one night. Chicago moved into a first-place tie with Detroit Red Wings by blanking Toronto Maple Leafs 1-0 while Montreal Canadiens, inspired by masked goalie Jacques Plante, shut out the Red Wings 3-0 in Detroit.

Chicago and Detroit both have 23 points, although Wings, slumping with three losses in their last four games, have played two games fewer than Chicago.

HARS CLOSE IN

Montreal moved within a point of third-place Toronto with last night's win. Canadiens now have 18 points, while Toronto has 19.

Ingfield and Bathgate were the big men for Rangers Thursday night in Boston. The win gives the New Yorkers 16 points, only two less than Montreal and nine more than Boston, currently on a 15-game winless streak.

Ingfield, a 28-year-old centre from Lethbridge, Alta., scored two goals, his seventh and eighth of the season.

Bathgate, his linemate on right wing, scored once when Boston was pressing in the second period and added two assists.

At Chicago, Hawk defenceman Pierre Pilote's power-play goal during the second period was the night's scoring, but there were penalties and rhu-rubs in plenty.

Six five-minute majors for fighting were given out, four of them for a donnybrook which broke out between Chicago's scrappy EJ' Shack, Leafs' Tim Horton and Chicago's Reg Fleming joined in. Fleming drew four of the games 25 penalties, spending 11 minutes in the cooler.

The game was fairly even in play, with Leafs holding a slight edge in shots 28-27. Chicago netminder Glenn Hall gained his second shutout of the season, while Hawks took their first win in four games this year against the Leafs.

Plante was the unquestioned

Andy Moves Up In Scoring Race

Andy Bathgate of New York has jumped into a tie for second place in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race.

Bathgate, in seventh place before Thursday night's game, chalked up two goals and two assists as the Rangers walked Boston Bruins 7-1. He now has seven goals and 11 assists for 18 points and is tied with Detroit's Parker MacDonald.

Detroit's Alex Delvecchio still has a two-point edge in first place with five goals and 15 assists.

Noise Fatal For Stamps

WINNIPEG (CP) — If the noisy fans at Winnipeg Stadium continue to boo their Calgary Stampede, Saturday's important Western Football Conference final may turn into a farce.

The Stampede, who meet Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the deciding game of the best-of-three series for the Western title, have threatened to halt play every time crowd noise interferes with their signal calling.

Calgary quarterback Eagle Day has been having trouble since the two-game semifinal against Saskatchewan Roughriders. Fans at Regina were making it difficult for the Stamps to hear Day's signals.

REGULAR WITH KINGS

Wills Wins MVP Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Maury Wills, mercury-footed shortstop with Los Angeles Dodgers and the first major leaguer in modern baseball to steal 100 bases in a season, today was named the National League's most valuable player of 1962.

The 30-year-old son of a Baptist minister won in a close race with Willie Mays, brilliant centre fielder of the champion San Francisco Giants. Wills drew 209 points to 202 for Mays in the annual poll of a 20-man committee of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

It was the fourth time in the last five years the award went to a shortstop. Ernie Banks of Chicago Cubs won in 1958 and 1959 and Dick Groat of Pittsburgh Pirates (now with St. Louis Cardinals) in 1960.

Dodger outfielder-third baseman Tommy Davis, the league's batting and runs - batted - in champion, finished third with 173 points. Fourth with 161 was Frank Robinson, slugging Cincinnati Reds outfielder and last year's winner.

Aussies Win Two Gold Medals To Take Lead In Empire Games

By JACK SULLIVAN

PERTH, Australia (CP) — Australian swimmers won their first two gold medals of the British Empire Games today and set a world record each.

MARY STEWART

MURRAY ROSE

An Australian quartet anchored by world freestyle champion Dawn Fraser swept to victory in the women's 400-yard freestyle relay in the world record time of four minutes, 11.1 seconds.

Minutes later in the $1,000 Beatty Park Pool, Australia's men's 800-yard freestyle relay team established another world mark of eight minutes, 13.5 seconds.

England finished third in each relay for a pair of bronze medals.

In track and field, Harry Jerome and two other Canadian sprinters advanced to the second round of the 100-yard dash, and in fencing a New Zealander won the gold medal for the women's individual foil.

DINSELEY PLACES THIRD
Tom Dinseley of Vancouver placed third after the compulsory phase of the men's springboard diving and the other Canadian entrant, Yugoslav-born Ernie Melnsner of Kitchener, Ont., was sixth in the free choice competition next Tuesday will complete the event.

Lynn Bell, Robyn Thorn, Ruth Everuss and Miss Fraser gave the Aussies their first gold medal of the games in the 400 relay.

The same four girls set the previous all-time recognized world mark of 4:13.8 at Melbourne last Oct. 22. Miss Fraser also anchored the Aussie team that established the officially recognized world mark of 4:16.2 at Townsville in 1961.

The new world standard also was from the books of the Games record of 4:17.4 set in the 1954 Games at Cardiff, Wales by Australia. That quartet, too, was anchored by Miss Fraser.

FINISH WELL BACK
The Canadians, anchored by world butterfly record-holder Mary Stewart of Vancouver, finished well behind the Aussies in 4:21.1 while the English team was clocked in 4:21.3.

Other members of the Canadian team were Patty Thompson of Hamilton, Ont., Sara Barber of Brantford, Ont., and Madeleine Severyn of Montreal.

In the men's 800, the combination of Murray Rose, Tony Wood, Tony Strachan and Bob Windle, anchor man, clipped 31 seconds off the previous world mark made by an Australian team in 1960.

The Australians finished about 45 yards ahead of Canada, clocked in 8:43.4. England was a yard farther back in 8:46.

The Canadian team comprised Aldy Melnsner of Vancouver, Sandy Gilchrist and Jack Kelso, both of Ocean Falls, B.C., and Dick Pound of Montreal.

In the women's 100 on a great first leg swim by Miss Thompson and the strong anchor by Miss Stewart in the opening swimming and diving competition.

Miss Stewart battled England's Diane Whitson to win second place by a touch after a great thrashing battle throughout the final 110. But Canada lost ground to Miss Fraser, who was clocked in 58.3 seconds from a flying start in the last leg to give the Aussies the gold medal by about 10 lengths.

CU YENGLAND'S LEAD
Miss Stewart did the last leg in 1:02.1. Miss Thompson was second behind Australia by a slender margin in the final 50 yards. Harter fell behind by about three lengths. Miss Severyn lagged by at least eight lengths behind the Aussies and about half a length behind England.

Miss Stewart, who will be 17 next month, gradually cut England's lead and nipped Miss Whitson by the narrowest of margins.

Rose gave the Aussies a great start in the 800 by swimming a brilliant first leg which opened up a three-yard lead over Kelso and England's Pat Kendren.

Today was the first full day of competition, and it got underway in the morning at Perry Lakes Stadium where the opening round of the men's 100-yard dash was run off with 48 sprinters—there was one scratch—taking part in nine heats.

Jerome, Lynn Evans of Southampton, B.C., and Bob Fisher-Smith of Ottawa each qualified.

BREEZE TO VICTORY
But Jerome turned in the outstanding Canadian performance as he and three other top sprinters breezed to victory in their respective heats and all four of them equalled the games record of 9.4. But the marks won't be recognized because in each case there was a tailwind of four miles an hour.

Ken Twigg of Toronto, manager of the track and field team, said in commenting on the Canadian showing: "Over-all, we did as we expected. We qualified three men for the next round. That's what we went out for. None ran all out."

Under a cloudless sky and a blazing sun that sent the temperature soaring into the 90s,

Jerome won coasting. The 22-year-old son of a rail was poster, who is aiming for a sprint double in the 100 and 200, captured the first heat by a yard over Alastair McIlroy of Scotland, clocked in 9.5.

Jerome broke out in front after about 50 yards and coasted up in the last four or five yards when he saw that he was not being pressed.

"I really quit moving after 50 yards," Jerome said. "I knew the wind was blowing and even if I had set a record it wouldn't have counted. So I took it easy. Saturday will be different. I'll go all out."

Today, the bulky field was trimmed to 36-four in each heat qualifying for the second round Saturday with the semi-finals and final scheduled for the same day.

Jerome's chief rivals, Tom Robinson of the Bahamas and Seraphim Antonio of Kenya, came through with flying colors. Both won their heats in 9.4 as did Mike Cleary of Australia. But the wind knocked out their record-equaling efforts, too.

Jerome is co-holder of the world record of 9.2 for the 100 with Americans Frank Budd and Bob Hayes. He was seeded No. 1 in the 100 on the basis of his 9.2 performance last Aug. 25 in Vancouver. But both Robinson and Antonio were rated serious contenders, each with 9.3 clockings this year.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

Planetary influences are likely to stimulate you, and most endeavors, whether connected with your business or home life, should prosper—with little hindrance of course. Keep emotions under strict control, however, and don't be overly aggressive with others.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that you have just entered a cycle in which it would be advisable to press major objectives vigorously. For the next three months, planetary co-operation will be fine where both job and financial ventures are concerned and there is a likelihood, too, that your goals will be furthered through the co-operation of others—provided you have done your part and earned such backing. Avoid extravagant over-optimism, however, in speculation during March and April. During most of the year, about personal relationships with be mixed somewhat unfavorable, which augurs well for marital, domestic and sentimental matters. In this respect, last December, the month of 1963 should prove an exceptionally happy period, also late December of this year.

A child born on this day will be endowed with great tenacity of purpose, meticulous will power and a keenly analytical mind.

THE MAN WHO PAINTED HIS OWN FUNERAL
VINCEZEE FRATEL, city clerk of Leoben, Austria, reported he was fatally ill in 1941, painted a canvas 30 feet long depicting 481 of his friends in his funeral procession—in accordance with his 22-year-old wish. But when he finally died the instructions he painted were followed exactly!

Canadian Families Grow Except Those In Quebec

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian families have gradually been getting larger except in Quebec.

That is one of the conclusions in a Dominion Bureau of Statistics report today on families counted in the June 1961 census.

The census found 4,147,444 families, an increase of 26.2 per cent since the 1951 census.

Some 88.2 per cent of Canada's total population lived in families last year, compared with 87.2 per cent a decade earlier, and the average family size rose to 3.9 persons from 3.7.

Newfoundland had the largest families—an average of 4.7 persons—while Ontario and British Columbia were at the other end of the scale with 3.6 persons per family. Quebec was the only province with no change in family size during the 10 years, remaining at an average of 4.2 persons.

Urban families were the largest, averaging 4.5 compared with 3.7 for urban families. Just over 28 per cent of all families consisted of a husband and wife with no unmarried children living at home. One-fifth of all families—a total 833,196—had two children at home while 338,664 families had three children. Nearly nine per cent of families had more than five children.

Average family size by province, with 1951 figures in brackets: Newfoundland 4.7 (4.4); Prince Edward Island 4.2 (4.0); Nova Scotia 4.0 (3.8); New Brunswick 4.3 (4.1); Quebec 4.2 (4.2); Ontario 3.6 (3.6); Manitoba 3.7 (3.6); Saskatchewan 3.6 (3.7); Alberta 3.6 (3.7); British Columbia 3.6 (3.3).

Opening lead—five of diamonds.

Here is an odd result from a hand played in a team match. At the first table, South bid a spade, West doubled, and North jumped to four spades, which East doubled. West led a diamond and South made the contract with two overtricks. He won the diamond, drew three rounds of trumps, cashed his remaining diamonds, discarding two hearts from dummy, and lost only a club trick. He scored 1,190 points.

East's double was not first-rate, to state it mildly. True, he did have some defensive strength, but he should also have realized from the bidding that he had a good hand offensively in either hearts or clubs.

North's leap to four spades indicated strongly that West had either a singleton or void in spades. East had three spades himself and the odds were great that North—South would have nine of ten spades between them.

East should therefore have known that a good deal of West's strength would lie in hearts and clubs, and that his hand would play well with one of those suits as trump. Rather than double, he should have bid either five hearts or clubs.

At the second table, East-West also missed their cue. Here South opened the bidding with a spade and West passed. West Courcier, an electrician, admitted tapping a small pipeline while it was being laid to a NATO installation.

REFRESHINGLY DIFFERENT

Refreshingly different—ideally adapted to a corner lot—lavish use of planter areas—winery siding, double plumbing, a sun deck over double carport—all add up to gracious living in this beautiful home. Picture this lovely home on a corner lot—or a lot with a view—with the living room set at a slight angle to the rest of the house to catch the view. Imagine the rooms completely furnished with the corner fireplace which leaves lots of wall space for furniture—the dining area has lots of room for passage to and from around the table area. From the attractive foyer circulation to all rooms is direct without needless crossing of rooms. Bedrooms feature good size closets and the double plumbing eliminates traffic jams. On the outside, lavish use of planter areas and stone facing with winery siding create a handsome picture, but of course there are many other lovely exterior finishes that could be used. Double carport at the rear of house shelters the family car. This house is designed for N.H.A. approval, and working drawings are obtainable from the Building Centre (B.C.) Ltd. New Edition of select home designs now available. Send 25c to cover cost of mailing and handling to 96 Kingsway at Broadway, Van. 10.

Don't Burn Up Those Leaves They Make Valuable Humus

By G.H.S.
The civic authorities and residents of Kelowna are becoming more conservation minded each year. This applies particularly to the constructive use of the huge crop of leaves which is our heritage as a city of trees. Almost gone are the smoke and smog clouds which at one time marred our sky with the burning of leaves and garden refuse. Although for a short period there is some traffic danger and risks of children playing in the leaves which have been raked to the street these leaves are most valuable.

A glaring fault of most soils is lack of humus or organic matter. The best remedy to the city gardener who does not have easy access to a supply of manure, is to start a compost. The terms peat moss, compost and leaf-mould are commonly used as a must as substitutes for manure. This is the time of year when the raw materials for composts are plentiful.

A properly built compost heap need not be either unsightly or malodorous. Choose an out-of-the-way spot behind the garage or under shrubbery or trees. Latex or a similar fence could screen the area or tall plantings of delphinium, dahlias, climbing roses, etc. Water should be accessible if quick decomposition is desired.

Plan to use a certain area, four or five feet wide and as long as space permits. Use coarse stalks or other roughage for the base. Add leaves, preferably shredded with a rotary mower, grass clippings, weeds, which haven't produced seeds, wood ashes, sod trimmings and most refuse from the garden except leaves and stalks of peonies, gladioli or diseased plants. Fruit and vegetable peelings, citrus rinds, etc. from the kitchen are also acceptable.

Construct the pile in six to eight inch layers of refuse, adding a layer of manure if available and a sprinkling of cyanamide or high nitrogen fertilizer. Alternate these layers with a layer of soil. Repeat until four or five feet high. Water thoroughly. The rate of decay is more rapid if the pile is turned every few months, making sure that the coarser material is turned into the centre and kept moist. Activating materials will assist the rate of decay. Leaves by themselves are slow to decompose and it may require three years of natural decomposition to obtain leafmould suitable for mulches or potting mixtures.

AIDS TO HOMEOWNERS

Coat Of Paint On Roof Can Live Up Shingles

PAINT STAINED SHINGLES
QUESTION: Recently we purchased a house several years old. The wood shingles are stained and we are beginning to think we would prefer a painted finish on them. Is this possible?

ANSWER: Stained wood shingles can be painted. But, first, I recommend sealing the surface with a coat of aluminum paint to prevent the stain bleeding through.

BOY IRON STAIN ON WOOD

QUESTION: My daughter put a hot iron down on a shelled wood end table while moving the ironing board back to the kitchen. There is now a much lighter area where the iron was standing. How can this be repaired without having to refinish the whole table top?

ANSWER: Rub the affected area with steel wool or fine sandpaper, to remove any charred surface material and to have a satin-smooth surface. Remove affected shelling with denatured alcohol. Then apply a wood stain or touch-up material available for this purpose at most variety, hardware and housewares dealers) to match rest of table top. With small brush, apply thin coats of pure fresh white shellac (stained half and half with denatured alcohol) to match rest of table top finish and build up to level of surrounding area. While this may not be a perfect patching job, it will make the discolored area less conspicuous.

CRACKED TUB-WALL JOINT

QUESTION: The cement sealing the joint between the bathtub and wall has developed a crack. We are afraid of a leak or water seepage through this. How should this be repaired?

ANSWER: Scrape out the present cement with a beer can opener or similar sharp-pointed tool and brush out all loose particles and powder. Then seal the whole joint tightly by running a tube of white-colored, caulking compound (available at most hardware, variety and paint dealers) along the joint; this remains flexible, and is unaffected by temperature changes.

CHIPPED WHITE STOVE TOP

QUESTION: An iron pot was dropped on the white porcelain top of my stove and chipped a small piece out. Is there any way to touch up this area so it won't look so conspicuous?

ANSWER: Special porcelain stove repair material is available at some hardware and housewares dealers; this is made to withstand heat up to 600 degrees without discoloring and is intended for this type of repair on heated surfaces. Follow label directions for use carefully.

NOTE TO EDITOR: Thetis Porcelain Stove Repair, made by Thetis Cement Co., 401 Lafayette St. New York, 3, N.Y.

CLOUDY MARGOANY

QUESTION: The surface of a mahogany chest has developed a somewhat cloudy look although it is regularly polished. How can the cloudiness be remedied?

ANSWER: Wipe the cloudy surface with a mixture of one tablespoon of cider vinegar in a quart of warm water. Rub dry with clean, soft cloths. After a few hours when the surface is completely dry, apply a good brand of furniture polish.

SEPTIC TANK CARE

QUESTION: We are purchasing a home that has a septic tank. Where can we get information on what care the tank requires? Until now, we have lived in an apartment house where this was no problem.

ANSWER: A small leaflet is available for five cents entitled

"Septic Tank Care", giving general recommendations, or a booklet, giving more complete detailed information, entitled, "Manual of Septic-Tank Practice", is available for 40 cents; for either publication, send to Superintendent of Documents, Washington 25 D.C.; payment (no stamps) must accompany order.
